New Fork. Dec. 11.—The irregular trend of prices in today's relatively dull and uninteresting stock market indicated that more attention was being paid by professional interests to special conditions affecting particular shares than to the general business and industrial situation as a whole. Most of buying power tempted the short interests to try same experimental short selling Studebaker, California Petroleum. Baldwin and a few other speculative favorites yielding materially to pressure. While little attention was paid to outside developments, the further strength of sterling exchange, additional extra dividend disbursements and a lower rate for call money were believed to have had a sentimental effect in bringing about the rally which occurred around midday. From them on it was a backing and filling movement with a few individual shares showing marked attention. MARKET WAS IRRECULAR.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Prospect of a cold wave likely to endanger much of the winter crop rallied the wheat market today in the face of heavy profit-taking sales on the part of helders. The close was unpetiled at ane cent net decline to a like advance, with May $1.20 1-t to $3.30 5-8 and July $1.10 5-8 to $1.10 1-5. Corn linished 3-8c off to 1-to up, cats unchanged to 1 1-5 cents higher and provisions varying from two cents decline to 27 cents gain.

With all deliveries of wheat today touching a new high price record for the season, and with Liverpool quotations falling to reflect tally the advances oppored Saturday on this side of the Affinite, many bulls decided that the time was opportune to turn their contracts into each. The large volume of selling which resulted met with persistent new haying based apparently on proposed legislation to authorize credits to farmers and exporters. It was only, however, after issuance of an official force.
